Our 87th Annual Convention & International Trade Show begins Friday. We are thrilled to have so many exciting initiatives to share with you —our valued Media members, and we admire and appreciate all that you do to help unite and promote the premium tobacco industry.

To help ensure the trade show is an advantageous event for all of our members —media, manufacturers, retailers, distributors and more, we kindly request that all interviews be scheduled in advance and —when possible, conducted outside of normal show hours.

Our Exhibiting Associate members have invested a great deal of time and money to participate in IPCPR 2019. For many, this show is their biggest sales event for the year. Thank you in advance for respecting the time limitations and selling schedules of these manufacturers and for helping propel our industry forward.

Can't wait to experience this incredible show with you!
