Thank you for your interest in bringing on our exciting new house brand of cigar into your store! As the originator of the "Yummy Bitches", including Sweet Jane, Crazy Alice, Fat Bottom Betty, and Leather Rose, we felt it was time to add a new flavor profile to the lineage of greatness. With that, let me introduce you to the new line.

Deadwood Tobacco Co. Chasing the Dragon is the first of its kind and boasts a rich selection of flavors never before introduced to the cigar world. The "Adult Version" of flavored cigars uses an exclusive steeping process to bring forward flavors based on a drink that has stood the test of time... The Brandy Old Fashion! With rich aromas of brandy, nougat, aromatic teas, and mixed berries, these sticks hold their own without over saturating the pallet. A nice relaxing smoke that is gentle enough for the beginner but complex enough for the novice smoker coming into your shop.

The entire Deadwood Tobacco Co. staff was involved in picking the flavors, and fine tuning the final product. Just like the yummy bitches pay homage to the madams that ran the brothels in this notorious town, the DTC Chasing the Dragon name comes from the underbelly of the wild west. While the madams were running the ladies on Main Street, the ancient Chinese "medicine" was passed from hand to hand in the shadows and tunnels of Deadwood. Opium had its hold on many of the gold prospectors and cowboys looking to spend the day's earnings, and that is where the story of them Chasing the Dragon came from. A cigar so good you crave another upon snuffing it out.

We have three different sizes, with different flavor notes available so far, with more coming soon. The Auntie, Zero and Midnight Oil all carry names borrowed from the street slang for opium at the time. Their popularity has grown fast and doesn't seem to be slowing down anytime soon, so order your inventory today!

Thanks for your interest in our product!

Sincerely,
The DTC Crew
